

- Baseline model is a language model trained directly on the entire training data, known as the mixed LM and the evaluation metric is perplexity

- Trained bigram LMs because trigrams didn't significantly reduce the perplexity

- Used SRILM toolkit to train and test the LMs

- Tried various tuning techniques like Good Turing and Kneser-Ney

Perplexity Experiments

Perplexity Experiments

- Baseline model is a language model trained directly on the entire training data, known as the mixed LM and the evaluation metric is perplexity
- Trained bigram LMs because trigrams didn't significantly reduce the perplexity
- Used SRILM toolkit to train and test the LMs
- Tried various tuning techniques like Good Turing and Kneser-Ney

Perplexity Results